

GOSPEL Rhythms™

PARTY RULES

GospelRhythms.com and The GospelRhythms' Project are under the management of the Holy Spirit and it is our heart's agenda to operate in a way that glorifies, honors, and pleases God in exercising our right and desire to be heard. The GospelRhythms' family is committed to putting God's agenda above our own. Here, you are free to "express yourself" in love. With that being said, please take note of our 4 simple, but strictly enforced, Party Rules:

1 BE CLEAN:

GospelRhythms, as an agent of Change for the Lord, does reserve the right to delete any posting that does not line up with God's agenda for The GospelRhythms Project. Additionally, if you have something to say, please re-read what you would like to submit and filter it through the heart and lenses of the Lord!

2 BE UNDERSTANDING:

Our goal is to be that light that lifts the Lord drawing people from ever culture and corner of the world. So please recognize that some of the people at the party might have little to no understanding about God or the things of God. God has given us the freedom to choose Him, choose life. And no matter where we differ in opinions and views, let's work to edify and strengthen one another.

3 BE RESPECTFUL:

We can disagree with one another without personally attacking or insulting each other. If you don't agree—agree to disagree. Let us always be respectful of one another. Fighting, insulting, or attacking one another is STRICTLY PROHIBITED! A house divided will not stand.

4 PARTY HARD!

We want you to have fun, come back often, and participate in what God is doing in & through The GospelRhythms' Project. Invite one of your friends who have yet to have a personal encounter with God or who is on the fence about the Lord, to GospelRhythms.com and let him or her see that we serve a cool, awesome, and hip Savior—Jesus Christ—who loves all of us and wants nothing but the best for us!

In closing, I would like to give the GospelPundit.com a shout out. I drew inspiration from them to post our site rules... so much love to you and your family! And on behalf of the GR-Crew, I thank you, our extended and ever-growing GospelRhythms' family, in advance for "representin' Christ to the fullest!" It is our honour to be partnered with you on this side of heaven and we look forward to interfacing with you ALL soon!
